I met Zo a couple years ago in Academy Sports in Fayetteville. We both were in the fishing section and he asked where do I be fishing at. We both fished at some of the same spots. It went from a 15 minute conversation inside to a 45 minute conversation outside in the parking lot lol We exchanged numbers and I think actually linked up the next weekend. From then on we became not only fishing partners but friends! Zo (Alonzo) was my homeboy! We shared and talked about so much about life but mostly fishing lol He was a great guy in his own way. You really had to know him to know him! Zo....I'm going to miss our conversations and most of all fishing! I could call him or he call me and if neither of us were busy, we were definitely meeting up to go fishing 🤝 Miss you my brother 💙 C-Los “ God in Jesus's name knows my nephew will truly be missed in my life and my other sisters life. It was devastating to hear this information about my nephew last month.

He helped us take care of the car whenever his mother or I needed him. He introduced us to some very good and honest mechanics.

My sister said, the dog would make noise when Alonzo was crying because of the braces on his legs. She said, the big German Sheperd really love her baby.

When my sister and husband returned to the U. S. in 1970; Alonzo was in his baby seat. The ride of 12 hours from overseas made him sick on the plane. My mother wisdom showed my sister how to soothe her baby stomach.

Alonzo was a very, very handsome baby. He wore braces as a baby to correct his legs but he was a very good baby. The braces really helped correct his feet and legs.

My sister and Alonzo came to visit in 1980 or 1981 for Christmas with his dog, Stanley. The dog was small enough for us to hold in our hand. The dog slept with Alonzo every night, therefore, he rarely had an Asthma attack. My sister had Stanley, the dog in her tote bag coming and returning to their home.

Alonzo told me that he played football in high school. After injuring his knee, he discontinued playing football.

God in Jesus's name knows I truly miss my nephew.
