“ I remember when Lonzo was younger we took him camping with Manuel, Izayah and my son Eddie and my husband. Guess he'd never went camping before, he was always so quiet, just talked to his cousins and his Uncle. He enjoyed it, roasting marshmallows on the fire pit we had, going walking and exploring the camp ground. Him and Izayah wandered off to the playground one afternoon, didn't say anything, just went, we were so worried. When we found them Lonzo said he was sorry they wandered off but that they were exploring and found the playground so decided to play. Just the way he explained it was funny, I told him he had to let us know if they wanted to go exploring. I think he enjoyed himself, he never told me if he did, he told his Uncle that he liked it. Didn't see much of him when he got older, if and when I did he always greeted me and then got quiet, he was always so quiet. He will be missed, I know his cousins, my grandsons, will miss him a lot. Am so sorry the family is going through this, prayers for his mother and father.

“ I remember when you were 2yrs old...Lord have mercy boy, you could cry...I use to hate watching your behind...Lol... You and your bow-legs with your saggy diaper on...Lol...Boy your butt was too spoiled...Crybaby Lonzo was your nickname...Lol...Man, I miss them days... You grew up quick...Just know that auntie would give anything to hear that cry again...I love you Lonzo...
