“ Darryl was a very special man! I called him the candy man because he always came and shared his candy with me. I always greeted him with “hey Darryl!” in the most super countriest voice ever and I’m not sure why I did that, but he always laughed. He shared his stories of his son with me and his sons mother. He was the sweetest and always had that amazing smile when he came into work. He would always come in and get his ginger rail and I always had something to say to him to make him giggle. I’ll miss his laugh! This hits hard to our huske family and he’ll truly be missed by us all! Prayers to the family and friends! He is a great man and will always be remembered! <3
