

Mrs. Deloris Johnson

August 8, 1954 - January 31, 2025

Deloris Johnson was born on August 8, 1954, in Fayetteville, North Carolina to parents Dorothy and Edgar Smith. Deloris spent her early years in Newburgh, New York where she attended elementary through high school.

After high school, Deloris relocated to Bronx, New York where she raised her four children while attending church, community college and working as a home health aide taking care of the elderly.

Once Deloris children were grown and on their own, Deloris (as well as her children) relocated to her hometown in Fayetteville, North Carolina where she found and fell in love with her husband Robert Johnson. Deloris continued her work as a CNA until she gracefully retired and spent the rest of her years serving the lord and spending time with her family.

Deloris loved to laugh. She had a smile that could light up a room. There was never a dull moment in her presence. She was always the life of the event. Anyone around her could not hold a straight face for long without either laughing with her or at her. The best way to describe her personality is she was just an overly excited burst of energy who was loved by many. Deloris was a loving wife, grandmother, mother, aunt, sister and friend.

She leaves behind: her husband, Robert; her children, Natasha, Alfonso, Keiwan and Tracy; her sisters, Ella and Shirlean Smith; she also leaves behind 14 grandchildren, great grandchildren, cousins, nieces and nephews. Deloris loved all and loved the Lord. Her beautiful soul will truly be missed.
