“ To the Craddick family, May God's blessings of peace surround and totally envelope you during and through this journey of loss. I and my husband are eternally grateful to have met Pops and his beautiful queen, and also Mike over 25 years ago at the MGB business. We have never met anyone more friendly, honest, and so wise. Pops always shared a life lesson that was always timely. He will be greatly missed. However, we will hold fast to his words of wisdom that will live on in all of us. What a blessing to us, thank you Lord God for such a great gift in Pops.

“ To define Mr. Albert simply as a brother-in-law, a friend, and albeit a man of immense talent wouldn't begin to grace the degree of his character. Which I shall forever be blessed to hold in my heart the most fondest of memories shared with Mr. Albert—the countless trips of traveling up and down the east coast, jammin' to the sounds of Otis Redding. Cooling it through the streets of NYC—simple Sunday dinners teaming with joy, laughter, and communion. Though my heart holds heavy in this time of heavenly transition, I shall lean to the joy and love for which Mr. Albert embodied to ease my grief. For “when great souls die, after a period peace blooms, slowly and always irregularly—we can be. Be and be better. For they existed” (When Great Trees Fall, 2014).

Mrs. Craddock, my deepest condolences for you and your family. I remember going to the flea market and seeing Mr. Craddock dress in his finest with his wife by his side with her beautiful loving smile for her husband. No matter where I saw him Weather at his business, he was always gracious and kind, and always dressed to impress. He had a beautiful phone voice. I think that's where his daughter Renee probably got hers beautiful from. He was just a classy man and he put family unity first. If I could've chosen a family, I would have loved to be in their family. Loving kind, supportive family. I know his kids and grandkids will forever miss him and remember him. Mr. Craddock and Mrs. Craddock built a legacy that would live on. Rest in heavenly peace, Mr. Craddock.

Sincerely,

The Delphine Roberts, family.

To beloved Mrs. Craddock/ Mom and our family, we offer our Heartfelt prayers & condolences. Mr. Al, known as Pop to us, embodied the values of integrity, kindness, and faith. As a master jeweler, he not only crafted beautiful pieces but also touched hearts. His love for family, customers, and community was evident in all he did.

While his passing leaves a void, we celebrate his life, knowing he's now at peace with the Lord. May you find comfort in cherished memories and the peace that surpasses all understanding. We will keep you all in our prayers in the days to come. Gone but not forgotten his legacy lives on through each of you. Sleep well man of God 🙏🌹🙏🙏 Love your bonus son & daughter forever.
