“ I am forever honored to be rens bonus mom. He lit our lives up from the moment he came to live with us. The times we shared as a blended family cannot adequately be explained. I'm eternally grateful up Nanielle for allowing me to be his bonus mom and for bond we share as a result of loving him and wanting nothing but the best for him. His infections smile plays in my head over n over. The morning he left here-- the light in his eyes, his laughter, his hug-- his excitement about seeing his girls & his mom... that's the memory I choose to reflect on. Ren you were a total spark of energy within my life. Even on your down days your energy- your desire for MORE for yourself and to give to your girls resonated in the atmosphere. I love you to the moon and back. -- forever in my heart, your (bonus) mom.

“ Lorenzo introduced himself to me when I moved into an apartment above him and we became friends almost immediately. Lo was a great friend, a great man and a great dad. We tried to hang out again after I moved out but we were never free at the same time. It hurts my heart to know he’s gone but I know his girls have a guardian angel now. ❤️ my thoughts and prayers are with his family and friends. Love to all.
Love you Lorenzo

“ I remember the day Lorenzo was born. My goddaughter (his mom & I) was expecting at the same time. His godsister is 13 days older, they slept in the same crib for the first 3 months of their lives. He was a happy and loving baby.
