“ Lorenzo and I were brother and sister from our Freshman year in High School. We graduated from High School together and attended Morgan State University together..and graduated again.. We were always competing about who was the smartest in our classes. After Graduation, we both became Educators...him in New York and me in New Jersey..He married into my family and became my brother in law. Our new conversations included talking about church, religion and what kind of lives we should be living.. The last time that I heard him preach was when he did the Eulogy for his brother/my sister's husband. Lorenze was a great role model for all to follow. He was always a giver and was always willing to give and do for others. So my brother Lorenzo, your life spoke for you and now you're no longer suffering from short illness..Rest on because you're now in the Master's Hand. We love you but God loves your Best. You will truly be missed but we will treasure all of the wonderful memories that we have shared over the years!!

“ Lorenzo and I attended Morgan together. I was car-less one day and needed to go to a practicum in Towson, Md. I was in a quandary, I normally don't ask favors of others and Lorenzo was nice enough to let me borrow his car for the day. A Black Camaro '68 ?! I loved muscle cars! The engine was loud and powerful!. I smiled to whole way to and fro.

I haven't seen Lorenzo since I graduated 40 years ago and have only spoken to him once or twice over the years. Rest Easy my Friend.

My heart goes out to his family and friends.

“ While searching the Colvin web site for my Sister in Laws funeral service today, I was stunned to find Lorenzo McMillian. I haven't seen him in twenty years so this is a shock to me. Sadly, I share heartfelt condolences to his family. I knew him while matriculating at Morgan State University. God moves in marvelous ways. I praise Him and pray he blesses you all with loving kindness as you mourn the loss of your loved one. God bless. J. Bryant- Washington, DC
