“ Baby girl I can't even begin to tell you the drastic change you have caused me to have here on earth. I received ur poem u wrote me before you took off to watch over me. You at only a few hours old taught me so much about being a man and most of all a father. There are so many people here that was so ready to meet you including me but your mom was the only lucky one. There was no reason in the world I can come up with why I wasn't able to see you like I wanted, But god knows Me better than anyone. Baby girl I will live for you and your sisters hopefully you can talk to our father personally for me and ask him to bless ur dad with a son. I'm so glad I'm able to talk with you right now and I'll be waiting for you to respond back to daddy, I'm pretty good at listening when our father above is speaking to me now so hopefully he sends you for my next test as my angel on my shoulder you know?? I love you Mariah Grace Adams and your mother says hello as well she should be stopping by soon we both just found you together again. I love you baby girl.
