“ I met Mary Wesley when she volunteered at E.E. Smith while Amy was a student there. We first bonded over a shared last name (not related) and then I discovered we were Sorors. She was feisty and spoke her mind, yet she was genuine and loving. Most of all, I admired her resilience. She ways always willing to help others even when her own health was failing. Peace, love and blessings to her family and friends. Soror Mary, I hold dearly our last meeting...it was precious. Rest in peace.

“ One thing I will remember about Ms. Wesley:

Growing up, I was always super afraid of staying home by myself...it didn't help that both my parents (Mr./Mrs. Culbreth) at the time worked afternoon and night shift at the post office. I would come home from "Furger Burger" every afternoon and harass Mrs. Wesley to let me stay at her house at night...she always opened up her home regardless of how late (looking back, I'm sure it was a hassle lol). It's funny, I used to be so scared to be in my house by myself...but of course during my teenage years, I couldn't wait for both my parents and sister to be gone (that's as far as I'll go on that hahaha). I just wanted to share a fond memory that I had of Mrs. Wesley as I wish Amy, Theresa, Brianna and Riquan comfort and God's peace during their loss. Mrs. Wesley was one of the first people to comfort me, Mikey and Michelle when we lost our parents, and I will never forget her kindness she showed to our family even before I was born. GOD BLESS

“ There are so many things I could say about Ms. Mary Wesley. The one thing I loved the most about her is her feistiness. I consider it a blessing to have met her and to comfort and encourage her when she needed it most. Ms. Wesley was more than a patient to me she was family. My heart is so heavy but I'm so thankful for being able to make you smile, laugh and to just live up on you for the last few years. Forever in my heart. ❤️

“ I am going to miss you Aunt Mary especially seeing you carrying around a water jug bigger than you and how important it was to always tells us to drink plenty of water everyday. My mom (your baby sister) is doing ok for the most part but I know her heart is broken because of the bond you two had together. This is truly a loss for our family and we will never forget you Aunty. Love Nell & Boys Grands
