“ I extend my condolences to the family of my longtime friend, LaShawn. I have not taken any pictures with her in a long time, but we kept in touch with one another through FaceTime calls regularly. She always knew that I was concerned and would want to know about her. We had a relationship that was so dear. She would never let me forget how I was there with her at her first big surgery, and she laughed at me so hard for picking up her potty and spilling urine everywhere. I will always remember that day, just as she did. I will miss my friend, but I know that she was tired of fighting. I am sad but not sad because she is no longer suffering through the pain. My beautiful, uplifting strong and persevering friend forever. I love you.

“ LaShawn and I would often text one another with encouraging words. I loved to cheer her on by telling her what a strong, resilient and blessed woman she was to still smile, laugh and share her testimonies of how she was managing through the pain she often experienced. Lashawn was a real Trooper, a kind and enjoyable friend as well as grandmother of whom we both shared our grandsons together. The both of us loved and always will love and cherish our five grandsons that we have enjoyable times with everytime we get to visit them. Lashawn, I will truly miss your smile and our conversations via FB messenger and texts. You have gone on before us but that's not how the story ends because I believe we will meet again!! Love, Tanya
