“ I was just looking over some old pictures and had a good one of us but never really got to share something about you. Sergeant Campbell stood by me during a difficult time and went to bat for me over my career even at the highest level he was far from a coward or sellout something sadly all too common in careers when so many only care about themselves or their own advancement. Till this day that grit Sergeant Campbell showed me I practice when I know it's the right decision even if people frown on me for sticking my neck out for certain people that me be unlikeable but otherwise great employees that don't deserve to be railroaded.

God Bless brother until we meet again.

“ Gina, I’m sorry for your loss. Wade was such an amazing person to know. Anyone who crossed his path instantly met a great friend. He gave me the nickname that I still carry today (“Oli”). We were side by side until the day he met you. It took a strong lady like you to separate the crew. I thank you for the love you gave him throughout the years. He will truly be missed by many, but especially me. He made the start of my army career a memorable moment and I will never forget him. Rest in peace Wade “Cam” Campbell.

“ I still remember when you [all] came here to visit us. We all played dominoes and had a great time (even though I am terrible at that game). You are a great person and I very much see you as my brother. Getting to know you, I very much began to look up to you and still do.

Thank you for being a good guy and a good role model. You are not gone; you are very much here in spirit and in our hearts, thoughts and prayers.
