“ You and I played football together at the same high school. I shot your first ever music video & recorded some of your first songs he ever made. Fast foward we continued to be creative over the years, I lived in the fayetteville so when you moved it was hard for us to link all the time. But I just want to say i think about those good times and convo's about your son and the future. You are and will be missed. Untill we met again my brother.

“ I Met him at the mcdonalds on wake forest rd. i seen bruh n he just reminded me of folks i grew up with i'm from franklin county NC. i asked him did he have some loud he said hell yea n i went with him to his grey dodge n met his other buddy i used to see around town alot Savage. we swapped numbers n i just kept it moving not knowing i just met a very special person. He would come to my hood and hang out alot. he knew my moms i stayed in a room with him one night and he took care of everything cooked lasginia smoked good with me and gave me a warm place to lay my head at the time. he was always so real. i loved spending money with bruh cuz i knew i was helping him n his son. R.I.P ZAKE N PRATT. i remember the last 3 times we spoke i seen you when u first got out of jail at the same mcdonalds i met u it was him n his girl at the time. i bought some loud from him then too n took his number. The next time i seen him was at walmart he had gotten a job at food lion and was showing me how he surprised his girl with paying her phone bill cuz she asked him thru text that she needed her bill paid n he told her he ain't have the cash. he told me that he is starting over again n that b4 he went to jail he was stunting n was in a better position and i encouraged and always believed in savage as i knew him that he would bounce back and that this is only the beginning. he always was a hustler n impressed me in more ways than one. i never knew about his day to day life personally because we never hung out in that way. i seen him everyday or other day in the city for the last 8 years i seen the man grow n mature.i used to call bruh off the store phone to come meet me thats how well i knew bruh.
